FEBRUARY

Know Less

As library users and curious creatures, we all like to know more. But what if we knew... less? This February, let's Know Less with techniques on budgeting, reducing food and plastic use, and how to transition to solar and green energy. Hear from local experts on how to declutter your head and physical space with meditation and minimalism.

MARCH

Know Jo(e)

We have plenty of Jo(e) to go around: Joe Stalin, G.I. Joe, and Jo March are only some of the anything-but-ordinary characters we get to know in March. Try your hand at painting with coffee rather than drinking it, and take cues from an expert mushroom hunter with over 30 years' experience teaching Average Joes to forage in Central Oregon.

KAREN ELAND • Painting with Coffee★

Karen Eland was introduced to the joys of top-quality espresso in Oklahoma, and the link between coffee and art connected when she began painting with it there in 1998. In 2008, Karen left Tulsa for Bend, Oregon, home of more breweries per capita than any U.S. city. It wasn't long before beer met her paintbrush with equally happy results.

THE WORKHOUSE • 3/3, 1–3:00 p.m.

SHAWN MIHALIK • Minimalism 101

Shawn embraced the philosophy of minimalism a decade ago. He helped organize The Minimalists' Everything That Remains book tour in 2013, producing the documentary Minimalism: A Documentary About the Important Things. Shawn still regularly works with The Minimalists on a variety of projects. He currently lives in Central Oregon and is the managing editor of Paleo Magazine.

PEOPLE

MAKING YOUR LIBRARY WORK

STAFF

Samantha Dalton •

Downtown Bend

There's a lot that goes in to making a library system work, and much of it happens behind the scenes. Samantha is a Collection Development Specialist, playing a critical role in getting books, music, movies, and other items into our collection and available for you to check out. "I love being a part of the foundation of helping the library run," Samantha says. "Tech Services, where I work, is behind the scenes but we all love the connection we feel with our community by providing materials through selection, purchasing, and cataloging." Samantha says her favorite book changes, but recently it was Neil Gaiman's Sandman series. Thanks for all you do, Samantha!

STAFF

Cathy Zraggen • La Pine

Cathy has worked for Deschutes Public Library for nearly 20 years. Hers is one of the smiling faces that greets you at the La Pine Library, where she is the supervisor. She says she loves the range of people who visit the library: young, old, middle-aged. "Libraries are great places for people to gather, meet, study, or just be—for free!" she says. Cathy loves working with the library team in La Pine, where she says they "enrich lives by promoting library services and teaching people how to use them." When it comes to picking her favorite book, there's no question. "Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix. Okay, it's all of the Harry Potter books!" Thank you, Cathy!

VOLUNTEER

Craig Dennis • Redmond

Craig has volunteered at the Redmond Library for 14 years. His specialty is finding lost books, so we like to think of him as a book detective. When he arrives each week he gets a list of items to look for and he's off, finding—by his estimate—upwards of 300 items a year. "It's a matter of cognitive honing," he says. "I keep using the skills that I have, I read codes and I read labels. It's exercise for my mind; it keeps me thinking and moving quickly and remembering things. It's good for me." Thank you, Craig, for all you do for the library and your community!
